Gander Mt. buy approved

BY GLORIA DAVIS

At a meeting held on Friday, May 1, the Lake County Forest Preserve District Commissioners voted 20-5 to purchase the 268 acre site, in Antioch Township, known as Gander Mountain, to be used as a forest preserve site.

This $1.1 million purchase adds up to $2,000 per acre for Lake County taxpayers, since the Illinois Dept. of Conservation will pick up one-half of the tab, set as a subsidized recreational project with the state.

The Lake County money is slated to come from the $28 million forest district land acquisition bond issue.

Bordered on the north by the Wisconsin-Illinois state line, on the west by the Lake-McHenry County line and on the east by the Fox River, of these 268 acres, 80 percent is

Iceless Hockey chaos calls for revamping

by GLORIA DAVIS

A meeting has been set for 7 p.m., Thursday, May 7, in the community room of the Lake Villa Township Library, to try and straighten the confusion, soothe angry tempers and return the Boys Iceless Hockey League to the status that successfully has seen it grow from a 50-boy membership, nine years ago, to one that allows 600 boys to compete in weekly games.

At the last meeting of the league, held a week ago, over 70 irate coaches and parents demanded explanations of the sudden changes in the way the league was operating.

In the opinion of many present at that meeting, a friendly and informal operation had suddenly been turned into a corporation, administered by five members of the league after the retirement of Frank Walsh, the league's founder.

Boys from the first through the fifth grades, living in the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst areas, have played their hockey games at different grade schools in the area for nine years.

According to Earl Gutke, he, Bob Ferrigan, Tom Hanahan, Don Powell and Dick O'Brien had decided to take over the reigns of the organization in January with Ferrigan as president.

Since the names of the old officers, one

Roth, Sobozak 'Men of Year'

The Antioch Loyal Order of the Moose and the Sequoit Masonic Lodge have instituted an annual Man of the Year Award, to be presented yearly to one member of the Antioch Rescue Squad and also a member of the Antioch Police Dept.

On April 27, Officer Ron Roth, Antioch Police Dept., and Wayne Sobozak, Antioch Rescue Squad, received the first awards, for service above and beyond the call of duty to their respective organizations and their community.

The two men were selected from a list of three nominees, by committees made up of members of the protection organizations, and presented their awards at a dinner held at the Antioch Moose Hall.

Having operated with professionalism and gained the respect of their peers, both men seemed surprised at winning the honor, Roth saying he loved the community and Sobozak accepting as one of the 20 members of the rescue squad.

Future Person of the Year awards are planned.

forest, containing the largest oak tree in Lake County.

The property, besides containing 2,250 feet of river front property, is also where the highest point in Lake County can be found, on top of Gander Mountain, 949 feet above sea level.

Since the purchase of the forest preserve was the "brain child" of the late Lloyd (Red) Murrie, some might find it ironic that, of the five that voted against the purchase, four of them are from his territory, District 4, and two of them from his town, Antioch.

Voting against the purchase were Jim Fields and R.G. (Bud) Holtz, both of Antioch and District 4; Donna Mae Litwiler and Joseph Tobolik, both of Ingelside, and also District 4.

Cary Daniels of North Chicago was the fifth dissenter.

Fields' objections were based on the closeness of the Chain O'Lakes State Park which contains 5,500 acres of the same type facilities, right next door.

"I don't know what this can offer that is not afforded at the Chain O'Lakes State Park, which is the seventh largest state park in the Illinois," he said.

Because the purchase had been on the agenda for seven years, Fields expressed curiosity at the sudden expediency.

"We are making a big mistake when we are asked by both the federal and state governments to stop spending," he added.

Tobolik, Fields, Holtz and Litwiler all claimed that the people in their district did not want the purchase.

One of Litwiler's objections stated, "A large amount of revenue for District 4 businesses comes from recreation. The county purchasing land will be competing with free enterprise in the area and the taxpayers shouldn't have to take the brunt of the problem."

Holtz remarked "It costs too much, it is a duplicity of services."

In answer to descriptions of the property's beauty, Holtz said, "If they want to look at it, take some pictures and put them up in the museum."

Of those for the purchase, Janet Kapschke, Lake Villa, and also of District 4, said, "It is a magnificent piece of property and the money is coming from a bond issue that has to be spent for forest district land acquisition."

When reminded by Litwiler that she had gotten calls against the land purchase last year, Kapschke said, "That was before the people of Lindenhurst saw the rape of the land by the Waterford Woods Housing Development."

Some of the loftier-minded assenters likened the obtaining of the forest preserve land to Seward's Folly (Alaska) and the Louisiana Purchase, citing it as buying land for the future.

A woman's place

When I think about it

Sexual harassment, who is guilty party?

by GLORIA DAVIS

Much has been written lately about the sexual harassment of working women. I'm sure there does exist the "Nine to Five" situation of the secretary that is expected to accept her boss's advances or else her job is in jeopardy.

And as all gals know, there is always the occasional male who is a little too free with his hands, as well as those who are constantly throwing out risqué jokes and sexually worded innuendoes.

In all honesty girls, with the help of ERA proponents, isn't the situation being blown a little out of proportion?

For heaven sakes, except for the boss's viewpoint on work expedition, what's wrong with men doing a little "girl watching" at the office, plant or shop?

The day that men stop taking a second glance at the women around them, is the day that the natural progression of the human race, and women themselves, will be in big trouble.

Personally I think that if a woman is secure in the knowledge of her own talents, a little added attention or advantage gained by the fact that she is a female, can be nothing but an asset.

Maybe a pretty, know nothing, girl will get the receptionist's job, because, just as a businessman carefully chooses the carpeting on the floors and the pictures on the walls of his place of business to portray the image he wants to give his prospective clients, he might choose to complete the picture with an attractive gal to greet them.

If God didn't want physical beauty to be appreciated, I don't think eyesight would have been included as one of the five senses.

Practical know-how will always be a necessity in the business world, ergo there will always be positions for the gal that knows her job, regardless of her physical attributes.

Admit it ladies, if there weren't any admiring glances and compliments coming your way, you would immediately change your makeup, go on a diet, find a new perfume or buy a new outfit.

There may be some, but I really don't think that many women yearn to be treated like "one of the guys."

Now we get to the nitty gritty, of the pushy male who constantly makes sexual advances, sometimes using authority as a lever.

How this situation progresses, in almost all but a few exceptional cases, is up to the woman.

The male ego is insatiable and very few will proceed when they are convinced that their advances are unwelcome.

A friendly, but firm negative attitude from the distaff side usually is sufficient, as long as it doesn't carry a hint of maybe.

Here's where a lot of young gals make their mistake by hedging with or just laughing an unwelcome advance off.

Admit it girls, the firm negative response is sometimes missing because, although you don't want to pay the piper, you still enjoy the attention.

This way of leading the fellas on could sometimes amount to sexual harassment in reverse, as does the unbusiness-like suggestive dress worn by some females.

Excessively high side or front slits, tight clothes and plunging necklines are not only uncalled for during the work day, but may be conducive to some of the so-called sexual harassment, whether or not it is justified.

Actually this all comes under the heading of "nothing new under the sun." Everyone has always used different ways of getting ahead. Some girls succeed because they are blessed with brains and some because they have an affinity for hard work, so don't condemn the gal who only has good looks to work with and does.

Women that complain that their femininity and beauty is a handicap that weights them down and overshadows their talents may be using this as a cop-out.

There are many beautiful brainy gals who are editors of national magazines, heads of big corporations, lawyers, department store executives, etc. Business being what it is, those six figure salaries have to be justified.

Contrary to the old chauvinist attitude, sometimes indulged in by women as well as out of date men, most of these women got to the top in a sitting position, behind desks piled with demanding hard work.

Capsuling this entire diatribe, may I cliché my way off this page by saying "vive la difference!"

moved and one retired, were on the bank account that held the league's funds, the newly self-appointed officers sought to change the names on that account.

With 600 boys, paying $13 membership dues, approximately $7,800 passes through this account annually.

Again according to Gutke, he and Powell and Ferrigan put their names on the account and a month later sought to add O'Brien's name to it. The trouble developed when Ferrigan refused to okay O'Brien's name, so the bank froze the account because no conclusion, as to whose names should be on it, could be reached.

Then, according to Hanahan, Ferrigan and Powell had a fist fight, so the other four decided to leave Ferrigan out of things and, unknown to Ferrigan, a totally new account was opened with the names of Gutke, Powell and O'Brien on it.

"The bank unfroze the account since two of the three names, mine and Powell's, were still on it," says Gutke.

Somewhere along the line, a decision was made to incorporate the league "for insurance purposes," and $200 cash, drawn from the account, was paid to Attorney Ken Clark, Antioch, to draw up the charter and write the bylaws of the Boys Iceless Hockey League Corp.

Many parents and coaches present at the meeting claim that all of this was done without their knowledge.

Although some of the parents claim that, after demanding to see a receipt for the $200, they were finally shown one with a March date on it. Gutke says the receipt carries a

Dec. 30 date and the incorporating of the league has been completed.

Most of the schools allowed the games to go on with no fee charged, but the Lake Villa schools asked for a $200 security deposit.

Reports have it that, at the last game in March, the Grass Lake School's gym was left a mess and Richard Hogan, the school's superintendent, has withheld the security deposit.

At this point the facts are confusing. Some say that Powell, Gutke and Hanahan ruled out Grass Lake students from further league participation, but Gutke claims to know nothing about this.

Ferrigan is the one that brought the controversy to the attention of the members saying, "I thought we had better go public with our troubles."

Gutke says all of this has been blown out of proportion.

By the end of the last meeting, Gutke, Hanahan, O'Brien and Ferrigan had all offered to resign and the majority of those present were in agreement at holding the May 7 "straightening out" meeting.

Walsh, who had stopped participating actively in the league because of his election to the Antioch Community High School board, and Ron Rasbid, coach and organizer, have both offered to return to active participation, to start it again the way it was.

Complaints about the postponement of the trophy awarding ceremony, from April 26 to May 31, are answered by Gutke who says, "Ferrigan was late in ordering the trophies and we had to reschedule the awards ceremony to the first date that the high school had open."

Chairman William J. Obee, of the Lake County Board of Supervisors, was released on bonds of $1,000 today following his arrest this morning on charges of attempted mayhem. The charge resulted from Obee's attack on R.H. Stripe, president of the Waukegan Taxpayers' Assn., last Tuesday, when the latter sought and was refused audience before the Lake County supervisor body. Obee is quoted as saying:

"Possibly it was also mayhem when Mr. Stripe pulled my nose. But I must interview the state's attorney before I can be certain. Possibly I shall ask to have Mr. Stripe put under a peace bond to prevent him from further insulting, threatening and striking me."

A warrant was served on Stripe to prevent him from making verbal and physical attacks on Chairman Obee, it was learned here late today.

Antioch bats explode for four-game streak

The Antioch Sequoits found pitching when they needed it and hitting when they needed it in sweeping four games, including a doubleheader, in action last week.

The Sequoits hosted Lake Zurich in a conference tilt April 27, and defeated the Bears, 9-8, in a real slugfest. Winning pitcher was Roy Raven who went four innings, striking out four and walking two. He got relief help from John Haling.

Haling had the big blow in the game with a solo homerun in the second inning.

May 1 at Central High School, Paddock Lake; the Sequoits battered their hosts, 18-8. Steve Sheedlo went five-for-five and had seven RBI's in the game and Dean Haviland added two singles and four RBI's.

Saturday, May 2, it was more of the same as Antioch swept a doubleheader from Waukegan East at Weiss Field, Waukegan. The Sequoits won the opener, 5-4, as Raven registered six strikeouts and one walk.

In the top of the seventh, with the game tied 4-4, Sheedlo reached base on an error by the third baseman, advancing all the way to second. He advanced to third on a ground out and one out later scored the game winner on a single by Tim Koesser. Koesser and Chuck Payne each had two hits.

In the second game, Antioch cruised to an 8-1 win behind the pitching of Carl Amundsen, who struck out six and walked one, giving up one run on one hit. Dan Johnson, in relief, struck out five and walked one, giving up one hit.

Mark Pomazak had two singles and a three-run homerun in the third inning.

The Sequoits are now 8-9 on the season and 2-3 in conference action.

This week, Monday, May 4, Antioch hosts Round Lake; Tuesday, May 5, they host Warren; Wednesday, May 6, the Sequoits travel to Wauconda; Friday, May 8, Antioch hosts Stevenson; Monday, May 11, they play at Grayslake, followed by a game at Grant, Wednesday, May 13. All are conference games.

Coach Tom Baba noted the success of the four game streak was due mainly to "getting hits with men on base."

Ploss, Maras play Olympics

John Ploss and Dee Maras, two members of Antioch High School's varsity basketball team which made a dream trip to the Elite Eight this season, are scheduled to be members of another dream team this summer.

The two have been selected to be among a group of 10 amateur athletes from the Chicagoland area which will represent the United States as members of the U.S. Junior Olympic Team.

Ploss, 6-8 center, and Maras, 6-6 forward, are to be on the team which will be playing a team from China in an exchange program.

The team will be playing under the guidance of the Amateur Sports Fellowship, headquartered in Chicago.

THOMAS WILLIAMS, executive director for the fellowship, cited the pair's "excellent personal reputation" along with their "fine basketball skills" as being the reasons for their selection.

In a letter which notified them of their selection, Williams stated, "I believe that you will be a fine representative of your family, your school and your community."

Antioch High School, in addition to having two of its players selected for the team, has also been chosen to host two of the games which will be played in the Chicagoland area.

Jim Fields, Antioch township supervisor, announced that the township will act as official host for the games which are to be played on Sunday, June 28.

A PRELIMINARY game between the fellowship's girls' team and the Chicago Dragon Club is scheduled for 2:30 p.m., with the AFS boys and Chinese National Junior team playing at 4.

PLOSS AND Maras will be among the United States players who will travel to Taipei, Formosa, Republic of China for a tournament running August 10-27.

Each player on the team must raise $1,200 in sponsorships to fund his trip.

This may be done by purchasing an advertisement in the souvenir program which will be distributed at the games. The cost of the ads are $50, $75 or $100.

How lucky can you get! Eastern Illinois University junior, Bob Glover was a big winner on TV's The Price is Right.

Glover went to California over spring break to attend a student government convention, having written for tickets to the show beforehand.

Glover, who is student body president at the university, appeared on the show on March 30, it was taped on that day and is due to be aired on May 7.

The Antiochan won prizes whose value totals $9,579.50. Among the prizes that Glover took home from the CBS game show were a collection of indoor and outdoor furniture, a remote controlled color television set, and a mink coat.

"I'll probably sell the mink coat to pay the taxes on the prizes," says Glover.
